CRIMINAL JUSTICE STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Lambda Alpha Epsilon (LAE)

LAE is EKU's student chapter of the American Criminal Justice Association. The main focus of LAE is to provide opportunities for students to advance their careers by networking with criminal justice and police professionals and learning more about the professions.

Alpha Phi Sigma

Alpha Phi Sigma is the Criminal Justice and Police Studies Honor Society. As a service organization, its goals are to promote academic excellence and instill a sense of responsibility for the communities its members will serve after graduation.

For more information on either of these organizations, contact Beverly Patterson at beverly.patterson@eku.edu or call (606) 487-3186.

MISSION

We are committed to exemplary teaching, research and philosophy that is grounded in:

- cutting-edge scholarship
- engaging students in critical inquiry, logical and ethical thinking
- direct engagement of the social world to develop a deep and practical understanding of justice problems
- service to the community, university, and profession

Providing students with the most current knowledge in the field prepares them to meet the challenges of an increasingly complex, technological, and diverse society.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

The Department of Criminal Justice provides a stimulating learning environment that promotes respect, tolerance, sensitivity, and an open exchange of ideas regarding a wide range of cultural and intellectual differences. Not everyone has the opportunity to attend our Richmond campus. This is why EKU now offers Criminal Justice and Police Studies classes toward the degree at the Manchester campus.

The EKU Criminal Justice Programs are designed for students who wish to complete the general education and major course requirements toward a B.S. degree in Criminal Justice, police studies, or an A.A. degree in criminal justice at the Manchester regional campus.

The faculty of the College of Justice & Safety are highly respected and internationally recognized. They provide students with a solid academic background that fosters individual growth and challenge students to excel in the classroom and beyond into their professions.
